I now understand more fully the "living" and the "dead," not in all, but in certain contexts. This isn't really new or anything. I am sure we all had this meaning in mind, but seeing it applied below places it in stark reality.

The resurrected or the heirs of the Kingdom are simply called the "living" constantly through out the Law, the Prophets, Histories, Wisdom, Gospels and the Epistles. Whereas mortals are called the "dead."

And Adam called his wife's name Eve; because she was the mother of all living.
(She is not the mother of all who ever lived, nor all who live at any time. She is the mother of all living)

But Jesus said unto him, Follow me; and let the dead bury their dead.

Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all why are they then baptized for the dead

1 Peter 4:6

For for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

Revelation 20:5

But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.

Revelation 20:12

And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works.

Jude 1:12

These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots;

Ephesians 2:5

Even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, by grace ye are saved;

Colossians 2:13

And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses;

Isaiah 26:19

Thy dead men shall live, together with my dead body shall they arise. Awake and sing, ye that dwell in dust: for thy dew is as the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast out the dead.

Isaiah 38:1

In those days was Hezekiah sick unto death. And Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz came unto him, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Set thine house in order: for thou shalt die, and not live. 16 O Lord, by these things men live, and in all these things is the life of my spirit: so wilt thou recover me, and make me to live.

2 Kings 20:

5 Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus saith the LORD, the God of David thy father, I have
